VOL. LXI. No. 25. REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 17, 1921. ESTABLISHED 1859

A TRAGEDY THAT STIRRED THE PEOPLE IN DECEMBER, 1867

Piece of Ancient History Is Herewith Given Concerning the Loss of the Famous Sloop "C. E. Long"

When E. F. Fitzpatrick filed in the superior court last week an application for letters of administration upon the ancient estate of of Captain David Jenkins, who was drowned on December 23, 1867, a tragedy which stirred the people of the county at the time was recalled. Shortly after the death of the captain his wife was appointed administratrix, but before the estate was settled she died, and the estate was never distributed, so the proceedings brough by Mr. Fitzpatrick were to perfect the title to the property which has been held for many years by Mr. D. R. Stafford, and which is to be sold by him when the title is perfected.

On December 28, 1867, The Gazette contained the following account of the tragedy. Some time after the accident the body of Fred Littlejohn, brother of Chase Littlejohn, the naturalist of this city, and now employed by the Academy of Science of San Francisco was found off Hunter's Point and brought to this city for burial. The funeral of the young man was largely attended by people from all parts of the Peninsula:

"It becomes our duty to record one of the most distressing casualities that has ever occurred in this vicinity. On Monday morning last, the sloop of C. E. Long left San Francisco for this place under command of Capt. David Jenkins, her owner, having on board George, his only son, 13 years old; Charles Boyd, brother of Mrs. S. H. Snyder, and Fred Littlejohn, aged 17 years old, all residents of Redwood City. A strong southerly wind was blowing throughout the day which terminated in a gale towards dark, and the last time the Long was seen on that day was about 4 o'clock p. m. by the sloop Young America, nearly opposite Redwood City. At that time the Long was making stretches nearly across the bay in beating up against the head wind. The Young America cast anchor and the men went below, as the sea was breaking over so as to make it uncomfortable and unsafe to remain on deck, and of course they were not in a position to see what became of the Long.

"The next morning a vessel was seen on her beam ends floating in the bay, and from the fact that the Long had not arrived here, it was at once suspected that the capsized vessel was the Long, which, of course, created a great deal of anxiety and excitement in the town. The sloop Roman, Capt. Miner, put cut about noon for the wreck, having on board Sheriff Lathrop and several others. The Roman overhauled the wreck about 3 o'clock and found it to be the Long, but found no one aboard, and being unable either to right her up or tow her into port, she returned to Redwood City, arriving about midnight. The next morning (the 25th) the sloop, Young America, with a large crew, besides Sheriff Lathrop, started out with a view of overhauling the Long and bringing her into port, and, if possible, to recover the bodies of those lost. The weather, however, was so extremely boisetoerous that the America did not venture out of the mouth of the creek until the morning of Thursday, by which time the Long had drifted down abreast of San Mateo. The America reached the wreck about noon, and in a short time had her righted up and along side, when she was towed up to the shell banks and all hands set to work pumping and bailing her out, hoping that some of the bodies might be found in the cabin, but in this they were dissappointed.

"The America arrived at Redwood City with the Long during Thursday night. She is but little injured, and probably one hundred dollars will cover the damages. She was found with her sails set, with mast and sails lying flat on the water. It is only a matter of conjecture as to how she was capsized, but it is presumed that it occurred when tacking. No tidings whatever have so far been received of any one of those who were on board, and it becomes certain that they must have all met a sudden death. By this sad calamity three families have been caused to mourn the loss of dear and valued relatives. The blow falls especially heavy upon the family of Captain Jenkins, who leaves a worthy wife to mourn his untimely death. Captain Jenkins was among our most respected citizens, and his afflicted widow and family have the warmest sympathy of the entire community.

"It is thought that the disaster occurred near the Alameda shore, and that the bodies may go ashore somewhere on the other side of the bay. The Alameda Gazette and Oakland News will please notice the fact, and request anyone finding dead bodies to communicate the fact to this office."

The issue of the Gazette of February 15, 1868, contains the following article concerning the finding of the body of Captain Jenkins. The bodies of George Jenkins and Charles Boyd were never found; their watery graves to this day remain hidden and unknown to man:

The Sea Gives Up Its Dead

The body of Captain David Jenkins was found near San Mateo on Monday afternoon last by a son of Mrs. Bachelder while hunting on the marsh. The high tides occurring a few days previous had probably washed the body upon the marsh where it was found. The body was in a tolerable state of preservation, it having retained all the clothing, even to the oil-cloth suit which he wore at the time of his death. The body was brought to Redwood City on Tuesday, and his funeral took place at one o'clock p. m. of that day. Bay View Lodge No. 109, I. O. O. F., took charge of the funeral ceremonies, marching in procession from the late residence of the deceased to the Congregational Church, where appropriate religious services were held by the Rev. R. B. Snowden, after which the funeral cortege moved to the Cemetery, where the Odd Fellows' ceremonies were held at the grave. Although but little notice was had, the church was crowded with the neighbors and friends of the deceased, who assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom they had respected when living.

It has now been about eight weeks since the wreck of the sloop C. E. Long on the bay, and but two of the bodies of those lost have yet been found: Charles Boyd and George Jenkins are yet undiscovered, but there can be but little doubt but what the bodies have been washed ashore somewhere in the marshes in this or Alamda county, and that they will yet be found.

Word has been received from Paul Mantz, who is in Japan, stating that he is enjoying the beauties of the orient. Paul left about three months ago with his brother, Grant, and Ernest Merrill on one of the Pacific boats, each holding a responsible position.

Mrs. A. E Montieth entertained at a large bridge and sewing party at her home on Grand street, Redwood Highlands, last Wednesday in honor of her cousin, Miss H. L. Harrison of Los Angeles. Autumn flowers were used to adorn the rooms. Delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon. Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn won the prize for the highest score and Miss Maude Kenrick the consolation prize.

Mrs. John P. Weller on Wednesday entertained her friends, Mrs. Hartman and Miss Burdette of San Jose and Mrs. Dennis Mahoney and Miss Annie Byrnes of San Mateo.

John J. Read returned home on Thursday night, having spent the past five weeks in traveling through the United States. Mr. Read left on the Foresters of America special and went with the other California delegates directly to Baltimore, where the supreme convention of the Foresters was held. He then went to Washington and on to Philadelphia and New York. His next stopping place was his old home town, Boston. Leaving the Hub he visited his daughter Josephine in Colorado and another daughter in Oklahoma. From Oklahoma he came to California and spent a couple of days in Los Angeles viewing the sights and scenes of Cafeterialand. Mr. Read had a most wonderful trip and says he would have been willing to stretch it out indefinitely. He will have some report to give to his brother Foresters at their regular meeting next Wednesday night.

Mrs. J F Parker, who as Miss Mary Blackhurst was principal of the Lincoln School in Wellesley Park last term, has accepted a position in the Roosevelt School in North Burlingame.

The party given by the ladies of Monut Carmel Catholic Church as a housewarming of their newly acquired home, the Charles Hanson property on Arguelo street, Thursday night was a success from every point of view. The house and the grounds were beautifully lighted and the guests who were from San Francisco, San Mateo, Belmont, Redwood City, Menlo Park and Palo Alto, had a very pleasant evening. Cards and dancing were the order of business and some beatutiful prizes were given for high scores. Father Kennedy, who was in charge, said that everybody had a good time.

Miss Eileen Studeman and Miss Grace Studeman will entertain about 30 of their friends this evening at an invitational party and dance which they will give at Odd Fellows' Hall. The young ladies are giving a great deal of thought to the planning of their party and all who have been invited will lauicy have a good time.

William Chestney, who resided in Redwood City as a boy with his parents, returned last Wednesday and greeted the old friends whom he knew here. Mr Chestney, who was foreman of the painting department of the Oakland shipyards during the war, has prospered and is now in business in Oakland. It is over 2 years since he was in Redwood City last and he was greatly surprised and pleased at the rapid strides made in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Werder were here this week from Solvang, San Bernardino county, visiting relatives. Mr. Werder has been manager of a large potash plant at Solvang for the past four years. During the war the company spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on the plant which will now be abandoned, as the products can be secured at a much lower cost from countries with which we were recently fighting. Mr. Werder will still continue with the company as their western agent in the handling of chemical products.

City Engineer Charles L. Dimmitt has prepared plans and specifications for the resurfacing of the streets in Redwood Highlands. The streets in that section of the town were put in several years ago and have a fine rock base. The large amount of automobile traffic has roughened the roadways to such an extent that a new surface is required. The work will cost the property owners about 80 cents a running foot.

The Episcopal Church, which has been painted red for so many years, has been given a new coat of paint and now stands forth in a modest suit of gray. The changed appearance of the little building is surprising, as it now looks like some structure lifted from one of the old countries and put down in a new setting. Mr Doxsee is the artist who has had charge of the work and he should be decidedly proud of his job.

The teachers of Sequoia Union High School who were in the school last year entertained the new teachers last Tuesday night at the Woman's Clubhouse. The wives of the married members of the faculty were also included and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed. All kinds of old fashioned games were indulged in and some of the pupils, had they been present, would have been surprised to see how heartily their teachers entered into the spirit of the occasion. At a late hour erfreshments were served.

Tomorrow will be a gala day for the Eagles and their friends. The aeries of Daly City, South San Francisco, San Mateo, Redwood City and Halfmoon Bay will entertain their friends with a picnic at the Beresford gardens. It will be a real, old-fashioned picnic, with games, dancing, etc. Owing to the fact that public picnics are a rarity as compared with a few years ago, coupled with the fact that the Fraternal Order of Eagles is noted for its hospitality, a record crowd will no doubt enjoy the day at Beresford.

The instrument was executed on February 28, 1903, and the subscribing witnesses were Geo. C. Ross and W. A. Emmett. RUNNYMEDE COMMUNITY MADE UP OF "LITTLE FARMS" THAT NET OWNERS GOODLY SUMS EACH YEAR

One of the most unique and intensive little farms districts in the United States is located at Runnymede, Palo Alto, Cal., about thirty miles south of San Francisco.

The spirit of progress is enhanced and stimulated among these one and two-acre farmers by the annual Runnymede fair held on the Weeks poultry ranch at Palo Alto. This event takes place this year on September 17 and 18. On these days there will be on exhibit many booths from the little farms demonstrating the enormous production secured by intensive methods.

The object of the exhibition is to create a pride in community development along the lines of high production. Runnymede stands today as a monument to what man can do on a very little plot of good soil, well watered.

The Runnymede annual fair is an inspiration to the Runnymede community of little farms and is only a fair example of what any organized community can do. It is a great factor in the community development work which is now being advocated by chambers of commerce.

This is a free exhibition, open to all interested in intensive agriculture. There will be free lectures on poultry, berries, gardening, etc.

There will be exhibitions of pure bred stock of hogs, cows, goats, rabbits and poultry. There will be on exhibit every vegetable that grows in the Runnymeed rich soil.

Runnymede is the most intensive poultry community in the world and poultry will therefore be the largest display.

Runnymede is also fast becoming a berry center and a large display of the choicest kinds of berries, both fresh and canned, will be on exhibition.

W. H. Hyde, famous berry grower of Watsonville, will deliver a lecture on berries on Saturday afternoon, September 17.

There will be talks from prominent poultrymen.

A barbecue dinner will be served at noon both days. This will be a good old fashioned country dinner, like "mother used to cook."

On the evening of Saturday there will be an outdoor theatrical entertainment by the Palo Alto Players' Club. An orchestra will furnish music for both days. The public is cordially invited.

Mme. Eugenie Sackville, the most talented Shakespearean actress in Australia, will entertain Sunday afternoon.

TALKED OF 'WAY BACK IN THE SIXTIES

The bridging of the bay from San Francisco to Oakland is not a new enterprise. It was talked of away back in the sixties. In the issue of the Gazette of December 28, 1867, appears the following article:

Bridging the Bay

There seems to be much doubt as to whether the government of the United States will surrender any portion of Goat Island for the railroad terminus, as Gen. Halleck is of the opinion that it will be resuired for military use. The attention of the railroad people has therefore been turned to the project of bridging San Francisco Bay a few miles below Hunter's point. The project is quite feasible. Should the road cross the bay, the depot will probably be established at Hunter's Point, where there is deep water and where the stone dry dock is already nearly completed, and where probably the great grain elevators and merchandise warehouses of the future will be.

Regular football practice started at Sequoia Union High school just week. The material is rapidly being grounded into shape and great expectations are held out for their success. THIS COUNTY WILL BE "SHY" $33,000

The supreme court having declared the alien poll tax law unconstitutional, this county will lose the sum of $33,000 which would have been collected and applied to the school fund of the county. The law was clearly unconstitutional, according to the treaty rights of the Japanese government, whose agent here fought the law. It is too bad that the Japanese and other aliens should not be compelled to pay the tax. They enjoyed the good roads and other privileges and do not contribute anything to the government.

County Clerk E. M. Nash has appointed Miss Helen Corwin a deputy in her office. She takes the place of Mrs. Brown, who resigned some time ago. Miss Corwin is a daughter of Mrs. Corwin, principal of the Washington School at Five Points. She is an efficient clerk, possesses a charming manner and will be popular in the office. Her winsome way assures this. Mrs. Nash may be congratulated upon her wise selection.

THE LA HONDA ROAD IS NOW OPEN FOR TRAFFIC

The La Honda Road, one of the scenic and picturesque highways of the country, that has been closed for the past two months while undergoing repairs, will be opened for travel today. This will be glad news for the motoring public who have longed to go over this beautiful road so replete with with scenic treasure.

THE ROYAL HAWAAIAN FAMILY

Something along the unusual in musical lines is coming to the Sequoia Theatre, Redwood City, when the Royal Hawaaian Family, an organization o fnine people, appear in conjunction with the full picture program. This company plays about 30 different instruments in many novel and unique ways. They carry a trunkful of instruments.

Miss Miriam Mecredy, only daughter of Mrs. A. R. Mecredy of Redwood City, was united in marriage to Charles MacNeil, son of Mrs. Joseph Legget of Atherton Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian church of San Francisco.

WHAT IS A COMMUNITY CENTER?

This is the question asked of the county organizer as she goes about Redwood City asking people, does Redwood City natr a community center?

The community center is a town's common meeting place for all of its people for social, literary, musical, dramatic and recreational purposes—or for anything more or less than these that the people want to do or express. But the scope of activities is not confined within the building. It helps to carry on and develop whatever leisure time interests the town is trying to do. Under its care playgrounds are promoted and supervised gymnasium opportunities created and all true sports encouraged.

It calls into being a play life for old and young. It helps people to self-expression, making for the development of talents before unsuspected. It tends more than any other tried organization or effort toward the making citizens into neighbors and folks, clears the community of differences, helping men and women to see good things for the town as a whole, and brings these things to pass, as never before under other influences. For pulling away scatters energy, but pulling all together means getting somewhere in a remarkably short time.

The war camp community service was continued as Community Service, Incorporated, at the request of the government, which recognzed its power to develop and express Americanism as well as to deepen and broaden the life of the people. Local centers may at request affiliate with the national organization, if organized and conducted along the line of community service ideas and ideals.

Community service has the endorsement and moral support of the army and navy, labor and the American Legion.

No two towns express theif leisure time interests in just the same way and a true center must grow from the pooled desires and interests, the heretofore unexpressed powers of the people to do things together, to serve each other. A trus community center is not made by the adoption o fa constitution, by elaborate plans or the amount of money invested, for it is a spiritual bond between the people as a result of pooling all their best in the service of each for all the others.

THE BONUS BILL.

C. B. Dodds, a special correspondent for the San Francisco Chronicle at Washington, in a recent issue of that paper has this to say about the bonus bill:

"The bonus bill is perfectly safe and it was better to have it recommitted to the finance committee, as was done, according to legislative officers of the American Legion in Washington. Not the least apprehension is felt here over the bonus. Legion authorities and members of congress alike are one in the belief that it will be passed as soon as business throughout the country has recovered somewhat. The Legion's lobbyist about senatorial chambers has expressed himself as glad that the bill was sent back to the committee, because now it can be improved and also because if it had been passed by the senate it would have met certain veto and then would have been dead for all time to come, as it would have to go through the house again if it ever was revived.

"There are only one or two senators the Legion is indignant at over their vote on the bonus bill, said a Legion lobbyist. "None of them is from the west. We understand Senator Shortridge's position perfectly. He has shown himself our friend in the past and we know he is our friend now and will be. He has done more for the soldier than any western senator I know of, for the boys know if they have a complicated compensation or pension matter he can straighten it out quicker and more satisfactorily than the average member of the senate because he gives these matters attention and is respected by administration officials. When he makes a request at the veterans' bureau they do their utmost to grant it."

EVERLASTINGLY RIGHT

There never was a sounder, safer and saner enunciation of a fundamental principle of government than that uttered by Attorney General Daugherty when he said at a recent meeting of the American Bar Association: "I am opposed to any system of government in which rights of any individual or group of individuals depend upon the whim or caprice or temperamental attitude of any public officials.

In other words Mr. Daugherty is for government by law; not government by men. He believes in that theory of government which requires that the citizen shall be able to put his finger on the law that prescribes the measure of his rights and the limitation of his liberties, that fixes his duties and his responsibilities. Mr. Daugherty is opposed to that system of government which leaves the citizen wondering, as he arises each morning, what new rule or regulation he will find announced in the morning papers as the latest idea of some bureaucrat as to his mode of life and conduct.

And Mr. Daugherty is everlastingly right. He has the correct theory of American government when he says, "The executive department cannot make laws. It is equally true that it cannot nullify laws." As stated, Mr. Daugherty has the correct theory, but he has recently seen an administration in power in Washington that assumed to make and nullify laws at its pleasure. That administration was retired under an avalanche of American votes and as a consequence Mr. Daugherty is at the head of the department of justice demonstrating the superiority of government by law as compared with a government by men.

SUPERVISORS' MEETING HELD

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday, September 12 at the courthouse.

Supervisor C. P. Cooley of Santa Clarac county appeared before the board and conferred with the members in regard to the proposed east side highway. He said Santa Clara county was vitally interested in it because of the need for improved traffic facilities between San Francisco and San Jose.

Supervisor Cooley was told of the work already done by the San Mateo county board in the way of a survey of the proposed road. Supervisor MacBain said he hoped that everything could be gotten ready so that a bond issue could be submitted to the people next year to raise the necessary money to construct the highway. The board after further discussion decided to arrange a day for the members to go over the proposed route with the county surveyor.

On motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor MacBain, County Engineer George A. Kneese was directed to draw plans and specifications for a ditch to be constructed near the cemeteries at Colma for taking care of the storm waters from the Colma hills.

On motion of Supervisor MacBain, seconded by Supervisor Hickey, the supervisor of the third township was given permission to close the Portola road where it had been recently contructed alongside the Searsville lake in order to make some necessy repairs to the thoroughfare.

On motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Francis, Supervisor Brown was given prmission to repair the guard rails on the Belmont to Crystal Springs road in the second township.

The reports of the county social service commission showing the sums of expenditures for outside relief during the months of July and August, 1921, were received and ordered filed.

The social service commisison, through its executive secretary, Miss Florence Boggs, submitted a communication recommending the granting of state and county aid in a number of worthy cases and the withdrawal of aid in other cases. The report was accepted on motion of Supervisor Mac Bain, seconded by Supervisor Francis.

A number of claims presented by A. T. Tate, county horticultural commisioner, for work done in connection with squirrel control on the Shoemaker ranch, after being approved by the finance committee for payment, were ordered by Chairman Thompson referred to District Attorney Swart so that the latter could proceed to bring suit against the land owner for collection.

Following discussion over a claim presented for repairs to a motorcycle for one of the count traffic officers, it was ordered on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor MacBain, that whenever an official of the county has an automobile or motorcycle to repair that he communicate with the purchasing agent before having the work done.

Chairman Thompson directed Mrs. Nash the clerk, to communicate with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and urge it to expedite the work of installing a telephone at the office of Barrett & Hilp at the site of the new county hospital at Bereford.

J. J. Shields, county auditor, submitted his report showing the money that can be drawn against the several funds during the coming month.

Supervisor Francis, on his motion, seconded by Supervisor Brown, was granted permission to leave the state for a period of ten days.

The regular monthly claims having been approved by the finance committee, were allowed on motion of Supervisor Francis, seconded by Supervisor Brown.

DIVORCE SOUGHT BY MRS. BESSIE L. WHITE

Richard E. White, former Redwood City business man, has been made defendant in a divorce suit filed last week in Los Angeles by Mrs. Bessie L. White. In the complaint he is charged with being too friendly with another woman and with having treated his wife in a cruel and abusive manner. The complaint also charges the defendant with snatching a revolver and pointing it at his wife, threatening to kill her. Mrs. White asks for the custody of their three minor children.

It is understood that the senate will give the right of way to the tax revision bill when it reconvenes on September 21. Individuals and business concerns hail the decision with delight. The earlier the tax measure becomes a law the longer the tax payers will have to adjust their financial affairs in conformity with it, so that payment of taxes next year will cause the least inconvenience.

A double wedding of cousins took place at a nuptial mass at Mission Dolores Church in San Francisco last Wednesday, Rev. John Sullivan officiating, when Hazel Cox and Noel Jacquement and Tessie Cox and James Keany became husbands and wives. The pretty brides are first cousins and are well known here, where their relatives reside.

The Native Daughters will give a dance in Native Sons' Hall on Saturday evening, September 17.

Tomorrow the combined bands of the San Francisco and Oakland fire departments, consisting of 75 pieces, will give a free concert at the Menlo Park fire house beginning at 1:30 p. m. The public is invited to come and hear this splendid music. The visitors will be given a luncheon by the local fire department before the concert begins. Nearly all the San Francisco fire boys are friends of Captain Whittaker of the local department. The memebrs of the Menlo Park fire companies will do their best to entertain the visitors. Concert singers will also accompany the players so that vocal as well as instrumental music will regale those who may attnd the concert. Come and show the fire boys that you appreciate their visit.

The Campfire has been leased as a tamale parlor by a Redwood City business man.

The arrival of seminary students on Wednesday to begin the fall term created no little excitement about the depot. Each incoming train brought many students. The garages did a rushing business during the day. St. Patrick's Seminary begins the term with a big freshman class. Among the new members of the faculty will be the Rev. Francis Ahern, curate at St. Mary's cathedral and an alumnus of the seminary, and the Rev. Father Greenan of St. Patrick's church, San Jose.

Dr. John C. McKinnon, a patient at the base hospital here up until a short time ago, died at Palo Alto on Monday after a long illness which resulted from overwork in army service during the influenza epidemic. Dr. McKinnon was a graduate of Rush Medical College and practiced for several years in Caldwell, Kan. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Tenneyq McKinnon; a son, Clinton, now a student in the Palo Alto Unio High School; a mother, Mrs. M. J. McKinnon of Los Angeles; a brother, A. G. McKinnon of Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. R. O. Fraswell of Fort Worth, Texas.

Robert Glynn has secured a lucrative position with the W. & J. Sloane Company of San Francisco and has joined the great army of commuters to the peninsula. Young Glynn is a clever and industrious young man who is cetral to carve a career in the mercantile world.

During the week several large flocks of wild ducks have been seen flying over to the Spring Valley lakes. Such old timers as Will Casey and Will Crauduff say this is a sure sign of an early winter.

The stork on Wednesday, August 31, left a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nash, Ravenswood.

Raymond Hara and Leo Walsh on Monday last killed a three-point buck weighing 175 pounds on the Diamond ranch above Portola. During the week their numerous friends have been enjoying venison steaks. Both young men are expert hunters and crackshots.

Mrs. Margaret M. Middleton, wife of William T. Middleton, passed away suddenly at her home on Mills avenue Sunday last. Her sudden death was a severe shock to her family and friends. For the past six months she had been ailing from a heart affection. She was married at Menlo Park to Mr. Middleton nineteen years ago and the wedded life of the couple was a very happy one. Mrs. Middleton was a native of Ireland. She had resided here for the past 22 years. Mrs. Middleton was a devoted Christian, a considerate neighbor, loving wife and congenial companion. The funeral took place from the Church of the Nativity on Tuesday. The following old time friends acted as pallbearers: P. Kearney, Thomas Coleman, F. P. Roach, Edward Gibbons, George Walsh and E. J. Murray.

Tuesday evening the chamber of commerce held a very important meeting. At this gathering appeared Chairman McGrath of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce and Daniel C. Imboden, its secretary. The proposition to provide rapid transportation down the peninsula was started at this meeting by the adoption of a resolution asking the Western Pacific Railway to build its lines from San Jose to San Francisco. The resolution promised support in securing rights of way and financial support from residents who would invest in stock of the company. The chamber also adopted a resolution asking the city of San Francisco to make provision for the purchase of the Market Street Railways at the November election and if the purchase is made to construct its electric line from San Mateo to Palo Alto and give through service from San Francisco to the San Mateo county line. The chamber went on record as agreeing to help secure the rights of way from San Mateo to Menlo. A resolution was also adopted appealing to the board of supervisors to take immediate steps for the construction of the east side highway and asking that a bond election be called to raise the money. A resolution was adopted favoring the Dr. Cottrell survey plan for San Mateo county as a whole as proposed by the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Organizations, following the lines of the Dr. Rastall plan in San Francisco, and asking the San Mateo county board of supervisors to appropriate the $1,500 asked for by the bureau to help defray the expense of the work.

The Palo Ito board of public works at its meeting Tuesday evening declared the University avenue bridge leading to Runnymede unsafe for traffic and ordered that it be closed, this action being taken on recommendation of the city engineer. The bridge has been in bad condition for months and a few days ago an automobile went through the flooring. Ouring the last fiscal year attempt was made to have a new bridge put in at this point, but the Peninsular railroad, which had agreed previously to share in the cost, declined to do so. Another attempt will be made to have a new bridge installed. San Mateo county and the city of Palo Alto are ready to go ahead with the project and the city clerk was instructed to communicate with the supervisors of Santa Clara county with a view to getting the endorsement and aid of that body.

St. Joseph's parochial school was opened for the fall term on Tuesday with an increased attendance. There were a number of new teachers, many of the old teachers having gone east.

The memory of James Cantillon, long since passed to that other and better land beyond, was recalled by an article in a recent issue of the San Jose News. He came here from the Seale ranch in the seventies to become a gardener and sexton at the Church of the Nativity, a position he filled until a short time before his death many years ago. He was the gardener at the Seale ranch, now the city of Palo Alto. Quoting from the California Agriculturist, this is what the News says concerning a "wonderful honeysuckle" in the Seale garden: "This honeysuckle, planted in rich soil, was trained 'ten to twelve feet high, in clusters on supporting frames,' and was not pruned! Then, contemplating the vine that we use nowadays not so much for beauty as covering utility, the editor waxed poetical. He wrote of a 'multitude of outstretching boughs covered with a mass of sweet flowers like a grand, magnificent bouquet.' On the south side of the Seales' house, away from the sea breeze, the gardener, James Cantillon, led his editorial visitor to an oleander and a wonderful shrub 18 feet high and rounded into a mass of foliage of the purest green. James Cantillon, the gardener! one year ago—and maybe forgotten. But every oleander that grows in a sheltered place, away from the sea breeze and every 'rounded shrub' with its mass of pure green foliage still offers itself, a living monument to the garden lover who, in 1872, loved beauty —and gave it a place and tended it with loving care in his own corner of the Santa Clara Valley."

The E. Black Ryan home not far from the Felton estate was sold yesterday by Mrs. Ryan to S. J. Pembroke, a San Francisco capitalist, who will develop the property at once. A short time ago the residence was destroyed by fire. It was a beautiful building. Mr. Pembroke buys the six acres of land and the well improved grounds. The sum of $5,600 was paid for the holding. In his lifetime Mr. Ryan was the tax attorney for the Southern Pacific Company. In the sixties he was the secretary of the late Senator Leland Stanford.

At a nuptial mass celebrated in the Church of the Nativity on Tuesday morning Miss Louise K. Joulie, the pretty and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Joulie of University Heights, was united in marirage to Narcissus Herbert, Father J. B. Hannigan of St. Michael's church at Ocean View, officiating. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple motored to the southern part of the state for the honeymoon. Mrs. Herbert is a charming young woman with a host of friends in this community. Mr. Herbert is an engineer of note residing at Willits, at which place will be the future home of the couple.

Wednesday in San Francisco Judge Dunne distributed the Martin Casey estate to 16 heirs. Among them are W. T. Casey of Menlo Park, who is a nephew. Martin Casey was a pioneer Bodie miner. He was an old bachelor and often visited his relatives here. He was not supposed to be flush with money. His estate was worth $30,000.
